Money from Nothing explores the dynamics surrounding South Africa's national project of financial inclusion—dubbed "banking the unbanked"—which aimed to extend credit to black South Africans as a critical aspect of broad-based economic enfranchisement. Through rich and captivating accounts, Deborah James reveals the varied ways in which middle- and working-class South Africans' access to credit is intimately bound up with identity, status-making, and aspirations of upward mobility. She draws out the deeply precarious nature of both the aspirations and the economic relations of debt which sustain her subjects, revealing the shadowy side of indebtedness and its potential to produce new forms of oppression and disenfranchisement in place of older ones. Money from Nothing uniquely captures the lived experience of indebtedness for those many millions who attempt to improve their positions (or merely sustain existing livelihoods) in emerging economies.

Malaysia and South Africa implement the most extensive affirmative action programmes worldwide. This book explores why and how to effect preferential treatment which has been utilized in the pursuit of inter-ethnic parity, specifically in higher education, high level occupations, enterprise development and wealth ownership. Through methodical and critical analyses of data on education, workforce, and population, the book evaluates the primary objectives of increasing majority representation in education, employment, enterprise, and ownership. The book also critically considers questions of the attainments and limitations of ethnic preferential treatment in reducing disparity, the challenges of developing capability and reducing dependency, and the scope for policy reforms.

Many people are confused about where to start a business. A strong desire to start a business is accompanied by confusion about where to start. If you experience something like this, you should sit down for a moment. Clear your mind. Calm down, take a deep breath, and exhale. No need to go far ahead and start everything off perfectly. Understand we're just getting started. Understand all the required processes. Can dream as high as you want. However, don't forget to come back to reality. Understand the reality of the moment. Understand what you want to achieve. Understand your biggest dreams that you really want to fulfill. But don't forget today. Don't forget the moment and don't forget what you already have now. This Book helps everyone to start a business and how to manage finance for business.
